DAVID LOGAN HONORED BY INDIANA GENERAL ASSEMBLY

INDIANAPOLIS – David Logan, an Indianapolis native who was selected the 2005 NCAA Division II Men's Basketball Player of the Year after concluding a record-setting career at the University of Indianapolis, has been honored by the Indiana General Assembly in a tribute led by members of the Indiana Black Legislative Caucus.

Lawmakers approved House Concurrent Resolution 75, which recognizes Logan, a North Central High School graduate who ended his career at the University of Indianapolis with 2,352 points, a record for the school and the Great Lakes Valley Conference (GLVC).

In his senior season, Logan led all Division II scorers at 28.6 points per game. He has received numerous awards, including the 2005 Division II Bulletin Player of the Year, the 2004-05 Daktronics NCAA Division II Men's Basketball Player of the Year, the Basketball Writers Association Division II Co-Player of the Year, and the GLVC Player of the Year.

"David Logan epitomizes the term student-athlete, and we are proud to recognize him on this occasion," said State Rep. Greg Porter (D-Indianapolis), author of the resolution and chairman of the Black Legislative Caucus. "He has excelled on the basketball court, where his feats will live on in the history of the University of Indianapolis' basketball program.

"He also has proven his excellence in the classroom at U of I, where he is working toward his degree in management," Porter continued. "David Logan is the kind of person who can serve as a positive role model to all young people as someone who is willing to put in the hours of hard work needed to perform to the best of his abilities."

Logan's efforts also drew praise from State Rep. P. Eric Turner (R-Marion), who said, "I believe some of the best basketball in Indiana takes place away from the large crowds and media attention. Through his diligence and constant effort, David Logan has made himself a better player and a person that all of us can look up to in admiration."

Sponsoring the resolution in the Indiana Senate was State Sen. Billie Breaux (D-Indianapolis).

In addition to being named GLVC Player of the Year, Logan was named to the All-GLVC First Team for the third consecutive season. He scored in double figures in all but two games this season – with highs of 46 points against Bellarmine and 42 against Northern Kentucky – in leading U of I to a 19-10 season.
